

NEW WEIMING LAW GROUP

Immigration Law • NIW • EB-1A

NWM's Extraordinary Success with Finance Professionals

The Value of Our Work: NIW & EB-1A Success for Finance Professionals

The National Importance of Foreign-Born Finance Professionals

Foreign-born professionals constitute a substantial portion of the U.S. finance and financial services workforce, particularly in quantitative finance, investment management, risk analysis, fintech, and financial regulation.

Their expertise is critical to the stability, competitiveness, and growth of the U.S. economy, supporting:

- Capital markets and investment efficiency
- Financial risk management and systemic stability
- Banking, insurance, and regulatory compliance
- Innovation in financial technology and data-driven finance

Our Proven Success in NIW & EB-1A Petitions for Finance Professionals

New Weiming Law Group has achieved extraordinary success securing NIW and EB-1A approvals for:

- Investment and financial analysts
- Quantitative finance professionals, economists, and risk specialists
- Fintech leaders and highly specialized finance professionals

We are recognized for securing approvals for finance professionals whose impact is measurable in outcomes, not publications.

A Market- and Impact-Driven Approach to Financial Excellence

We understand that finance professionals rarely publish academic papers or accrue citations, despite playing decisive roles in major economic and institutional outcomes.

Excellence in finance is demonstrated through performance, adoption, and risk mitigation, rather than academic metrics.

Demonstrating "Sustained Major Significance" in Finance

We effectively establish extraordinary ability and national interest by showing how our clients' work:

- Improves financial models, valuation methodologies, or risk-management frameworks
- Enhances market efficiency, liquidity, or transparency
- Strengthens institutional financial stability or regulatory compliance
- Guides capital allocation with measurable economic or employment impact
- Introduces innovative financial technologies or data-driven systems adopted at scale

Why This Approach Works

Financial impact is quantified by results, adoption, and economic effect, not publication counts.

USCIS standards are met through clear, evidence-based demonstrations of sustained national economic importance.

This strategy has proven enormously effective, even for professionals in private industry or confidential financial environments.

Our Reputation

New Weiming Law Group is known for its success representing highly specialized finance professionals whose work supports U.S. economic growth, market integrity, and global financial leadership.

We translate complex financial achievement into compelling immigration evidence — with clarity, credibility, and results.

